Compound Sentences

A compound sentence is made up of two or more complete sentences connected by a conjuction (a joining word) such as for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so.

Tom walked through the haunted house, but he wasn't scared at all.

Create your own compound sentences on the lines below by combining a sentence from column A with one from column B and connecting them with a conjunction. You can use sentences more than once.

A Jan went to the carnival.

lan wanted to ride the roller coaster.

Jan played arcade games.

Jan tried to win a stuffed bear.

Jan started to get hungry.

B She had a great time.

She rode on all the rides.

She didn't have enough money.

She didn't stay for long.

She stood in a long line.

It started to rain.

She won a toy bear.

She bought popcorn.

EXAMPLE: Jan went to the carnival, but she didn't stay for long.

Proofreading

There are six spelling mistakes in the story. Circle the misspelled words. Write the words correctly on the lines below.

One day a wolf went out in the woods for a walk. He was hungry so he went looking for some lounch. He saw a dich along the path. He decided to hide there to wait for a nice fat mouse to come along.

The wolf sat in the hole for a long time. He was tired of waching, but he was still very hungry. Suddenly, he heard footsteps cruncing the leaves on the path. He peeked out of the ditch and saw a little gray mouse dragging a bag.

The wolf leapt out of the hole and stood in front of the little mouse. Not very big, thought the wolf, but she will have to do. The mouse was scared, but then she had an idea.

"How about some cheez?" she said to the wolf. She reached into her bag and pulled out some cheese. The wolf looked at the large chunc of cheddar that the little mouse offered and then at the tiny size of the mouse.

"Thank you," said the wolf. "That would be great."

Paraphrase (put in your own words) the information about Hermit Crabs.

Watch Them Run!

Hermit crabs look funny when they run across the sand. But they do more than make us smile. Hermit crabs have important jobs to do. They keep beaches clean by eating dead fish and plants. Seeing hermit crabs is usually a sign that a beach is healthy.
