A long time ago, there was a girl called Big Bad Red. She was tall and strong. She was mean to everyone but her grandmother, because her grandmother taught her how to be strong.

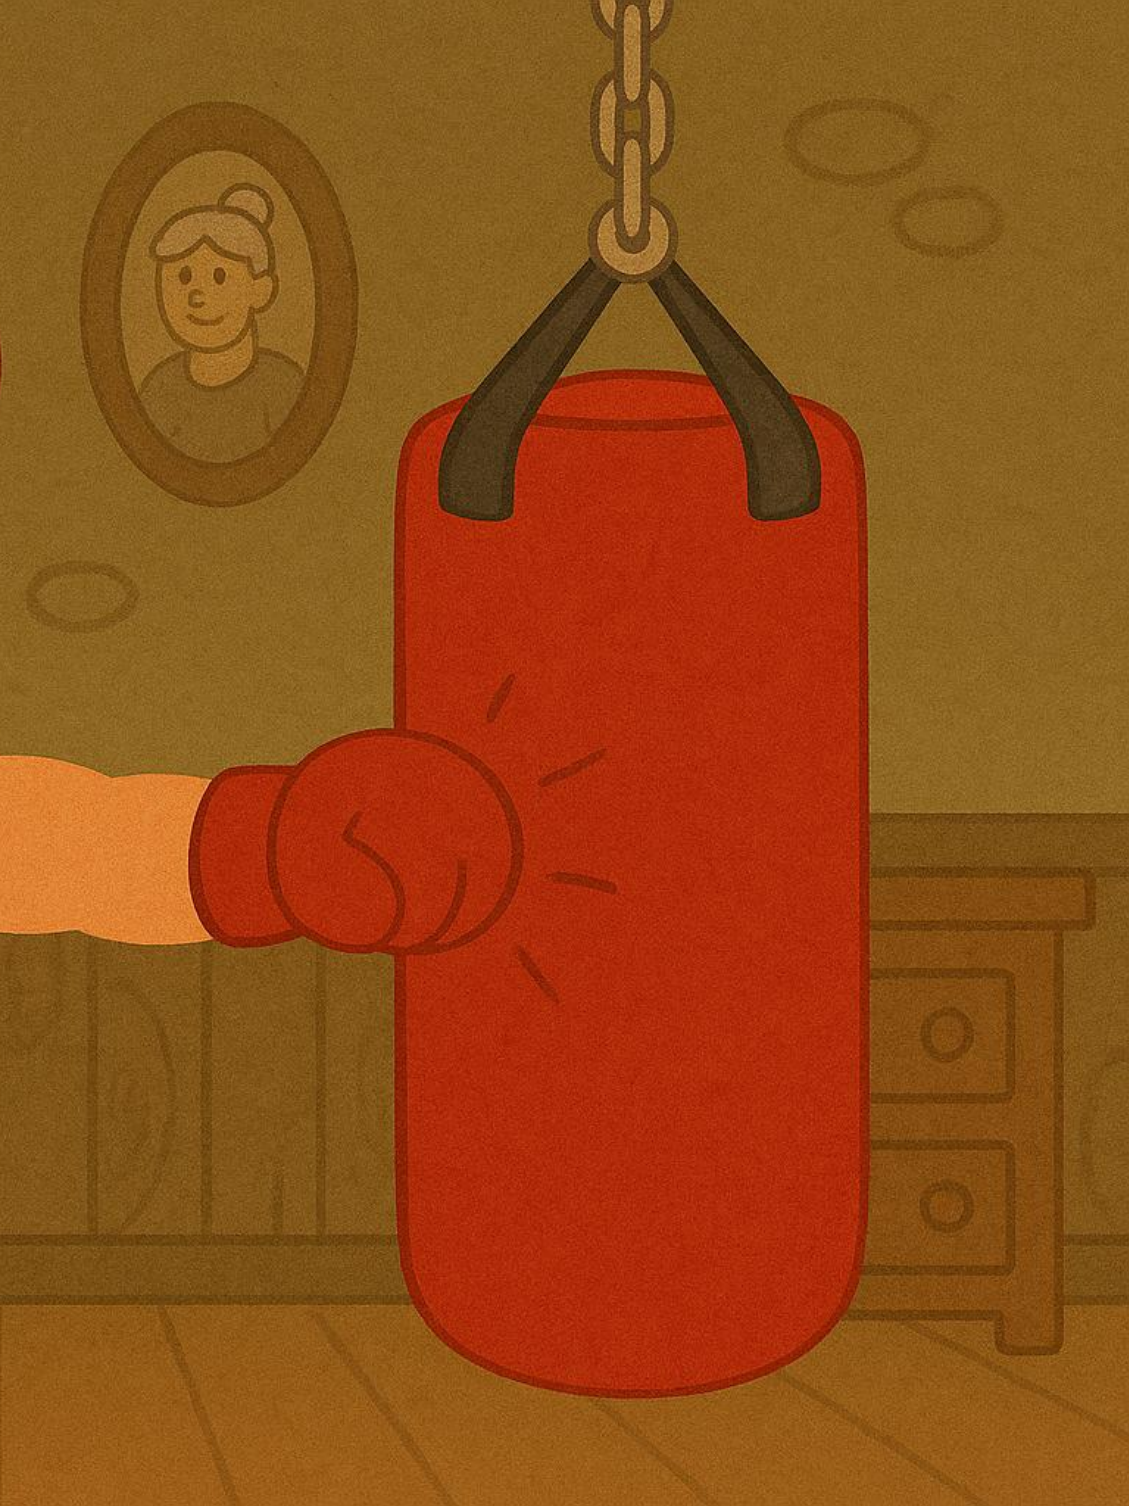

One day, Big Bad Red wanted to go find her grandma. She walked and walked, and she saw her friend, Wolf. Wolf wanted a battle. So Big Bad Red went to find her grandma, Big Bad Chad.

Big Bad Chad taught Big Bad Red. “First you need to punch the sand bag” Big Bad Chad said. “Then we can eat together.”
“Yes” responded Big Bad Red.

There was two chicken legs and two whole chickens, and two cups of milk.
“This Chicken tastes good, I love to eat in your home, Grandma!” Big Bad Red said.

When they finished to food, they saw many wolves. Big Bad Red went out to battle the wolves.

One wolf was so scared, he pooped on the ground. All the other wolves laughed at him.

At that moment, Big Bad Red punched every single wolf.

When Big Bad Red finished the battle, she saw a man and married him. She changed her name to Red. They named their daughter “Little Red Riding Hood”
